HAVE YOU BELIEVED OUR REPORT?
SERIES #34
ISAIAH 53:1&2

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a root out of dry ground.

He hath no form nor comiliness: and when we shall see him, ther is no beauty that we should desire him.

WORDS OF WISDOM
Matthew, 1st chapter,18-25th verses.

Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his Mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost.

Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example was minded to put her away privily.

But while he though on these things, behold the angle of the LOd appeared unto him in a dream, saying Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.

And she shall bring forth a son, and thy sall call his name Jesus, for he shal save his people from their sins.

Noow all this was done, that it might be fulfiled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying ,

Behold a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring a son, and they shall call his name emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.

Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angle of the Lord had bidden him, and toook unto him his wife.

And knew her not till she had brought forth her firstborn son: and he called his name JESUS.

PRISONER'S CORNER

In an effort to keep our reades informed, Tacoma Facts will be publishing PRISONER"S CORNERS", A weekly article from the Prisoner's themselves However the opinions are not neccessarily those of the Publisher.

The formation of the Black Prisoner's Assistance Coalition has lifted the look of desolation from the faces of Black Prisoner's in Walla Walla, and the look of hope now dominates their countenance, However those enlightned prisoner's who recognizes the tremendous effort it will take to influence and assure an equitable system of justice in the state of Wash. are not so quick to conceive an immediate respite from the racist practices that has dubbed the State of Washington with the stigma of having the "worst criminal justice in the United States."

Without a doubt, the enlightened prisoner knows that the success of the coalition will depend on the willingness if the Black prison population to articulate the problems, and the more capable prisoners will be vulnerable to further arbitrary treatment treatment by state officers desiring to suppress their participation and malign their credibility.

Prisoner's willing to participate may be faced with the contingency of being denied parole eligibility, work release placement, or any postive programing available to others in the prison populace. Only the most dedicated prisoners will be willing to make such sacrifices for the beneifit of the whole.

The members of the Executive council of the Black Prisoners Forum Unlimited are aware of these risks, and none have suffered so unfairly as my dear friend, Brother Bennie Washington,whoas president of the B.P.F.U., began the effort which has culminated in the formation of the coalition bt expressing the need for such assistance unrelentlessly, and who exposed the over racist practices exercised within the prison.

We are expecting the first test of the Coalition's effectively to be the securing of justice in Brother Washington's behalf.

Besides the arbitrary treatment he has received by the parole board and prison official for daring to stand in behalf of all of the black Brothers, it was discovered that Brother Washington suffered the most basic transgression of his constitutional rights during the criminal process, including the "right to trial" according to law.

No prisoner here is more deserving of the Coaltion's attention, as Brother Washington has born the york of oppresion valiantly, and remained steadfast in the pursuit of higher education and greater ideals.

He is the only prisoner here working on a "double Master's Degree," and was one of five students throughout the United States accepted in the "Poetry" program at Western Washington University.

Litigation is before the courts demanding redress in Brother WAshington's behalf, but the cage in the wheels of justice seem to be bent or broken. Will the Coalition be able to start the machinery that will correct such a manifest injustice affecting such a deserving and worthy Brother? We wait to see, with the look of hope on our faces.

"The meeting was very productive," said Mayor Ford. "We do not agree with every decision of the Administration but it is extremely important that we keep the lines of communication open at all times. It is the first of several such meeting where we will give the Administration first hand information concerning the plight of American Cities and especially those headed by the Black Mayors."

Joining Hands To Fight Illiteracy

Florida's Governor Robert Graham congratulating Award-Winning recording artist, Joe Simon on his effort to focus on the nation's attention on the problem of illiteracy among youth.

"I am saddened and distressed that in 1983, millions of our youth cannot read or comprehend past the 4th grade level," Simon explained.

If something is not done immediately to combat this devastatin problem, this generation is destined to lead lives of turmoil, alienation, and even violence.

Asked why he has adopted such an intense effort, Simon responded: "I've often wondered how our youth will function in the super high-tech society of tomorrow with millions of them classified as "unemployable."

Civil Rights Debate

Benjamin Hooks,right, Executive Director of the NAACP, Clarence Pendleton, Center, Designate chairman of the U.S.Civil Rights Commission. The program's host, Gus Heningburg, is at left.

The Reagan Administration was both critized and defended as Benjamin Hooks, Executive Director of the NAACP,clased with Clarence Pendleton, Designate Chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commissioners on a televised "FAce-Off" recently held on the WNBC-TV Program,"Positively Black".

Mr. Hooks charged that Mr. Reagan had wanted to fire three members of the u.s.Civil Rights commisioners "because he did not like their policies" and that the running dispute that followed had "severely damaged" the Commission.

"I domn't sense that at all,"Mr. Pendleton said in reply. "Even before I was apointed or nominated, the President said that he wanted to change the makeup of the entire commission.

Moderated by the "positively Black "host, Gus Henningburg, the half hour debate was provocative and often heated as the two participants brought their different view to bear on the President's Civil Rights Policies.

Mr. Pendelton added: "When we all marched, as Ben (Hooks) did in 1963, we thought there would be one protected class, primarly blacks--now we have 17 protected classes--we would have to take 132 percent of the whole to give every its fair share."

PSALMS 51:1-16

HAVE mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions.

Wash me throughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

For I acknowledge my transgressions: and my sin is ever before me.

Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: that thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and be clear when thou judgest.

Behold, I was shapen in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me.

Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts; and in the hidden part thou shalt make me to know wisdom.

Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Make me to hear joy and gladness; that the bones which thou hast broken may rejoice.

Hide thy face from my sins, and lot out all mine iniquities.

Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.

Cast me now away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me.

Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation, and uphold me with thy free spirit.

Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee.

Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, thou God of my salvation; and my tongue shall sing aloud of thy righteousness.

O Lord, open thou may lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it; thou delightest not in burnt offering.

The sacrifices of GOd are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

The Mean Year — John Jacobs

1983 began in Depression and--We are told--is ending with an economic recovery that looks and feels just like a Depression to the many millions still jobless.

All in all, it was a mean year: a year of rising international tensions and continued in difference to poverty and equal opportunities.

Perhaps the best metaphhor for the record of 1983 comes from New York City, where the South Bronx has become a national metaphor for urban blight.

It seems that the city is disturbed by the rows of empty, abandoned apartment houses, especially those lining a major highway through which traffic flows.

Those empty buildings stand as an indictment of society that throw away those homes and the people who used to live in them. It's a monument to poverty and to urban distergration.

A sound, sensible, and humane solution would be to renovate those homes and revitalize the neighborhoods. But the City doesn't have the money to do that and the Federal Government is slashing its housing programs to the bone.

so the buildings stand there, mounments to society's callousness.

But they also leave a bad taste in the mouths of the commuters who have to see them every day as they travel from their surban homes to downtown ofices. In the eyes of many, these buildings are less of a human problem than they are an image problem--giving the city a bad name.

So the solution officials have come up with is to put large plastic decals up in place of the broken windowns and empty window-holes. Decals with shutters, plants and windown shades would give the elusion that those building are occupied and that some semblance of norman life is going on in what really is an urban landscape resembling the far side of the moon.

The decal program amounts to camaflouging reality. As such it is a symbol of national policies that retreat from warring on poverty, and national attitudes that deny the extent of poverty.

It is similar to the widely-trumpeted economic recovery that is described in cosmetic terms implying our urban and poverty problems are going to be relieved by themselves.

They won't, just as those Bronx building are nor going to be made habitable again by pasting comestice decals on their fronts. the destruction of jobs and the persistense of ling term strutural problems in our economy will continue without new policies that solve them instead of just papering them over.

Above all that means policies that draw neglected minorities into the mainstream. but events in 1983 indicate such policies are not on the drawing boards.

Instead pf extending civil rights, the year over the future of the U.S. Commission on Civil rights. Only a last minute compromise avoided the death of a valuable force for civil rights progress.

Instead of creative jobs program and a thrust to equal opportunity, we got cuts in job training funds and attacks on affrimative action.

Instead of helping hungry people to eat, we got cuts in foods and the appointment of a commission to find out why there's so much hunger in the land.

All of this--and lots more--amount to sweeping problems under the rug in the hope they'll go away. They won't. Our problems won't be solved by neglect any more than buildings will be restored by disguising them with decals.

But in 1983 was another year of social indifference, it wasn't unique, it's been a long time since society's institutions mobilized to make our nation more fair and more just.

The passing of another such year is another signal that we're on the wrong track; that time is running out, that we're sowing a bitter harvest.

FROM CONNOISSEUR TO FOOD WORSHIPPER

We've all met people who live for their next meal. Possibly, you are unconsciously this type of person. These people eat not because they are hungry, but because they have developed an insatiable taste for very rich, exotic foods. They read recipes and can taste the food they read about. They savor every bite and have evolved into food worshippers. Of course, we all enjoy a well-prepared meal, which is perfectly natural. However, food worshippers may reach the point that they substitute food for other areas in their lives that are lacking fulfillment instead of confronting the problem. This action can be damaging. Food is not an outlet. It is a source of fuel for the body.

Diet Center believes you should eat food that will help your body function at total capacity. But it is also felt this can be achieved through appetizing and fulfilling meals, featuring the natural flavors of fresh fruits and vegetables. No deprivation need be involved. Contact a Diet Center Counselor today and find out how to "eat to live."
